What do you mean I'm too young to be a Rams quarterback?

Wow, they even had vibrating chairs to relax in.

Community Fun Day

By Pava Leyrer

Fun with the Plainfield Fire

Community Fun Day turned out to be just that—A lot of FUN! We had a lot of friends and “family” come out to the Heritage National Mortgage Picnic held at the Rivertown Rams Community Fun Day. The Moon Bounce donated by Eccentric Entertainment, Brooke Sims never saw a moment of non-bouncing until it was deflated. Dawn Specie from Wearable Wire had one of the most popular items for the day—marshmallow shooters! For those of you over 21, they are not alcoholic, they shoot mini-marshmallows through painted tubes. The kids had amazing fun with them and I believe even a few adults! Jodi Joseph with Chicago Title Grandville booth was very popular throwing darts and mini-footballs. The line for child ID sponsored by Charlene Hammontree, US Homes realtor and Hollie Schipper of Waddell and Reed Financial Services seemed to continue all afternoon. Adults had as much fun getting their faces painted as the kids did and the Northview Cheerleaders showed a great deal of talent creating the “custom” faces and balloons. The Northview Boosters served outstanding barbeques and a variety of refreshments to round out the afternoon.

The Rams game had some good football to watch even with the disappointing loss to the Indiana Tornados. The entertainment at halftime by the Northview Cheerleaders and “trainees” made the day even more fun for all the kids and parents alike as they taught cheers to all who wanted to participate. Everyone
